

Ironbark Software listed on 2005 Q400 List

Ironbark Software was listed in the Q400 list for the second year in a row, with the list being unveiled at last month's prestigious Q400 Awards.

The Q400 Awards are Queensland's premier business event of the year, with the top 400 privately owned businesses in Queensland announced based on independent survey results.

The Q400 Awards are a project of the Queensland Business Review, sponsored by the Queensland Government and BDO Kendalls.

Ironbark Software supplies integrated software solutions to the fresh produce industry and has experienced exceptional growth in the past year, gaining new customers such as Moonrocks, Favco and Foodstuffs.

Chris Findlater, Ironbark Software's Managing Director said he was delighted at making the list two years in a row.

"It has been a great year for Ironbark Software; we gained several new customers and maintained excellent relationships with our existing customers."

"We look forward to making the Q400 list next year," said Mr Findlater.
